BANKING by mail is now an accomplished fact, in successful operation in many cities.

The Old Colony Trust Company has adopted a system which makes it easy for its out-of-town depositors to open accounts and transact business by mail. Deposits sent by mail may be in the form of money orders or checks, and they are acknowledged the day they are received. It is not necessary to send the pass-book with deposits, or to be balanced, as, on request, statements are mailed showing the balance on the last day of each month, and the cancelled checks are returned at the same time.

This system is a great convenience to those who come to Boston infrequently.

THE safe deposit vaults at both offices are of the most modern type, and the price of the boxes, ranging from $10 to $100 a year, is adjusted to suit those of small or large means. The vaults are guarded night and day by armed watchmen, and are burglar, fire, and water-proof. The use of a safe deposit box insures the safety of its contents, and the coupon rooms afford great privacy for inspecting them.

COMPLEXION CREAM

Greatest Toilet Luxury Made

Cleanses, Softens, purifies, whitens and beautifies the skin. Soap and water only cleanse superficially.

MME. YALE SAYS:

A little Almond Blossom Complexion Cream should be applied every time the face and hands are washed. It removes the dust, soot, grime, smut and smudge from the interstices of the skin and makes the surface smooth as velvet.

A daily necessity at home and abroad; a treasure when traveling by land and water, or when on an outing of any kind, and particularly prized at a seaside or mountain resort. Protects the skin from cutting winds, burning rays of the sun and every injurious effect of the elements. Prevents and cures abnormal redness of the nose or any part of the face, and that purplish hue due to exposure to cold, also chapping, chafing, cold sores, fever blisters and all irritation of the skin.

It is the greatest known specific for burns; takes the fire out more quickly than anything else, soothes, heals and prevents scars and suppuration. Indispensable for use of infants and every member of the household. An exquisite natural beautifier. A grateful application after shaving. Excellent for massage purposes. Mme. Yale's Almond Blossom Complexion Cream is now sold in two sizes by

Blanche Walsh

— IN —

The Woman in the Case

Blanche Walsh in Clyde Fitch's much-talked-of modern society drama, "The Woman in the Case," will be the attraction at this theatre on Monday, January 8, when this great New York success will be seen for the first time upon the local stage. The play was produced a year ago in New York, where the engagement at the Herald Square Theatre was originally booked for four weeks only, and Miss Walsh's managers, Messrs. Wagenhals and Kemper, had intended it as only one of a list of several plays to be presented. So instantaneous was its triumph that all other plans were swept aside and Miss Walsh appeared exclusively in "The Woman in the Case" throughout the engagement, which was extended on account of its tremendous patronage and unquestioned enthusiasm to four months instead of the original four weeks as at first booked. Indeed so great was its success that she has appeared in nothing else since that time. After a brief summer vacation Miss Walsh began her present season at the Madison Square Theatre, where the triumphs of last season were duplicated. After appearances in two or three of the largest cities, she began a four weeks' engagement in Chicago, playing to almost $50,000 and breaking the record of her celebrated engagements in that city in "Resurrection" and "The Kreutzer Sonata." Now she will come to Boston, where she has always been one of the greatest favorites to appear upon the local stage, and the company that comes with her will be the same as that which made so great a sensation in New York, including Dorothy Dorr, Eleanor Carey, Grace Gibbons, Katherine Bell, Jean Patriquin, Martin Alsop, Frank Sheridan, Harry Brown, Leonard Ide, William Wadsworth and William Travers. Exactly the same artistic and elaborate scenic production used in New York will be seen during the coming appearance here, which will be her last visit to Boston before her important engagement season which has been booked in London for the height of the spring season.

COMMON SENSE

It is common sense and good business to take care of your teeth

What is considered among scientific men as one of the greatest and most promising advances of the Twentieth Century is the greater care and attention given by the general public to the hygiene of the mouth and teeth.

It is a well established fact among scientists, and is fast becoming recognized by the public at large, that most of the ills the mouth is heir too are confined to the teeth.

The decay of the teeth is due to one or more of three causes, viz.: the presence of deleterious and destructive germs (found in 1880 by Sternberg to be present in twenty per cent of the healthy mouths examined), acid secretions of the mouth, and poor health in general.

With the end in view of combating these causes, Barker's Antiseptic Dental Wash and Tooth Powder have been devised and offered to the public as par excellence the Twentieth Century dentifrice.

Their antiseptic properties have been combined by the highest skill in pharmaceutical technique in such a manner as to conserve the normal structure of the teeth and leave them absolutely free from harm.

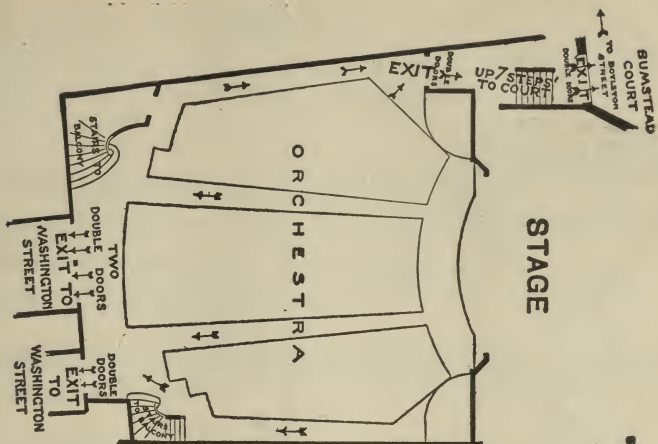

They are used and recommended by physicians, dentists, chemists and professional people.

"From our examination and from our knowledge of the ingredients of these preparations we consider them both valuable agents in the preservation of the teeth and the hygienic care of the mouth."

THE receipt of a legacy by a person inexperienced in business affairs often brings with it considerable worry and care, for to produce an income the money must be invested, and the selection of investments or the determination of whose advice to follow in their selection entails a great responsibility.

The Old Colony Trust Company will receive legacies or other funds as agent, make investments and reinvestments in its discretion, pay over the income at stated intervals, and at any time, when desired by the owner, turn over to him the fund as it then stands. In this way the legacy or fund may receive every care that experience and responsibility can give, without in any way changing its ownership. The officers of the Old Colony Trust Company are glad to receive inquiries in regard to the establishment of such agencies, and to explain the conditions under which the work is undertaken.

OF the many reasons why a person owning property should make a will, the following are perhaps the more important :

It enables the testator to select those who shall administer his estate, instead of leaving their appointment to the Court.

It enables the testator to give his executor powers of disposition of the property which an administrator does not have, thereby saving delays and expense caused by constant applications to the Court for authority to do things which are often necessary to settle the estate.

It enables a testator leaving minor children to select their guardian, instead of leaving the appointment to the Court.

It enables the testator to leave property in trust for wife, children, and others, choosing for himself those who are to hold and manage the same.

It leaves the estate in charge of certain persons from the time of the death of the testator, and often saves serious delays and family jealousies and disputes.

In the case of a man, it saves his widow the hardship of having at once to take up property questions and business responsibilities.

The Old Colony Trust Company is prepared to act as guardian, or as administrator of estates, as executor under wills, and as trustee under wills or agreements. Its officers are ready at all times to confer with persons intending to make wills, and are glad to discuss the establishment of trusts of any character, whether the property involved be small or large.

"Is Jenette's hat becoming to her?"

"Yes—and no."

"What do you mean by that?"

"It is about twice as becoming to her as her friends think it—and not half as becoming as she imagines it to be."

Mrs. Henpeck—We never know how our best friends are.

Henpeck—That's so, my dear. Now, there's that fellow you jilted when you married me. He has never spoken to me since.

FROZEN DOG TALES

AND OTHER THINGS

IS A RICH LODGE OF HUMOR OPENED UP in a mythical Idaho mining town, and stamped into book form for the entertainment of the "tenderfoot." It bristles with Western ideas, and is replete with strong local color. No one can read Col. Hunter's stories, his homespun philosophy and homely verses, without delight and benefit. They are full of fine human feeling and unexpected pathos.

Said the wag in a manner most dapper, "I've a question to ask that's a-capper.

Is it true, as is said,
That the fair Cuban maid
Promenades in a Havana wrapper?"

Gladys—Men are such conceited things! Why, one may see them any time gazing at a looking glass.

Tom—Yes, but it's always a good-looking lass.

"Yo' nebbah had eny experience wid wives, did yo' bruddah?" asked henpecked Nemus.

"No, sah," replied am, "but Ah've raised mules."

Wigg—Henpecke's wife says he talks in his sleep.

Wagg—Well, I suppose that's about the only chance he has.

Charley—What do you care if Minnie has told everybody in town that you proposed to her? It was bound to come out anyway.

Harry—Oh, I don't care if people do know it; but I'd like to know whether she told about it because she was so glad or only because she considered it a great joke.

Mrs. Jones—What are you thinking of making of your son Willie?

Mrs. Brown—I've made up my mind that he shall be a stock broker. You'd ought to see how smart he is at playing Pit.

There is lots of "soldiering" in the army of the unemployed.

Mrs. Smith—The folks at our church are as nice as you please when they want to get anything out of you; but after they get it they don't seem to know there is such a person in the world.

Mrs. Carpenter—Yes, there is a deal of human nature in church people as in everybody else. I don't imagine even the little ones would take any notice of Santa Claus the day after Christmas.

There are lots of small boys, and a good many "small" men.
